Standing of Clubs. g

At the close of the eleventh inning yested any afternoon, the game of ball between the Norfolk bunch and the Lawnakers of Richmond stood on the score board 5 to 5.

Darkness settled over the land and another double-header will be the consequence. But the two-game-one-admission-price will not appear before Old Sol-sends his rays down upon Mother Earth and loosens up the wings of the slab performers.

Not before this season and perhaps not again while the league continues, will there be witnessed such an exciting game mend yesterday afternaon. From abus-ing the umpire, to applauding some par-ticularly brilliant play, the grand-stand and bleachers went wild and got gloomy in the same breath or inning. It was fast, furious and fierce, and over it all there hung a veil of uncertainty that made the entire exhibition interesting and novel. Manager Clark, of Norfolk, who last wick was fined once and benched twice by Umpire H. C. Wingard, went to the bench again yesterday and also received a fine of $5. Manager Charlie Shaffer, of the Richmond aggregation, ind five dollars taken from his stipulated salary, and Catcher Hinton, for the Lawmakers, will be minus a V when the pay-day comes. Mr. Wingard was boss or nothing yesterday, and he showed by his acts that he would be the king-bec.

Wanted to Arrest Him.

Wanted to Arrest Him. Once during the game, Manager Clark ran to the umpire and shook Mr. Win-gard, It was for this that he was placed on the bench and fined. Two Henrico county special fee officers were in the diamond, and both wanted to make an arrest. They made their way to the visitors beach and persisted in taking Manager Clark away. The charge against the base-ball man would have been asapult and battery.

The officers were presudated that their presence was not needed to arrest a ball-player who chanced to lose his head, and player who chanced to lose his head, and they left. Later they were made to leave the bench and get out of the diamond.

But the principal amount of the excitement came in the eleventh inning when the score stood 5 to 5 and the sun had hidden its face from mother-earth and taken a sneak behind the fittle house in center-field. Shaffer and Hamilton went out and Hinton pasted one on the nose. He later pilfered the second sack and Cowan' went in to list for Colonel Silli, who had pitched the game. After fouling several of the in to last for Colonel Still, who had pitched the game. After fouling several of the hells, Cowan binged one on the trade mark to the free country, out near center, Hinton started from second and didn't pay much attention to third, but came home. The ball was sent to Edwards, the backstop for the visitors, and Hinton was tagged just as he was putting his hilly-white fingers on the rubber. Tangles Wingard called him out. The de-Umpire Wingard called him out. The de cision was a close one and the umpire was standing exactly at the plate, so he must have seen it.

Players Are Fined.

Yet in this play hangs the tale of two fines. The run would have given the game to Richmond instead of making it a tie up affair. Mr. Wingard said the runner was out and this settled all the ball playing for the day, because it was getting real dark at this time. Manager Shuffer projected and Hinton. Manager Shaffer protested and Hinton kicked. Both were fined for the protes-out, the Riemond boss imped into four swals and scored just that many runs, tying the score. In this inning the game should have been won for the Lawrakers. Colonel Still was engight at the third sack on a very close decision, Many believed that he was safe. Had he not have been called out the minth inning would have found the Richmond crowd hanging to six runs while the visitors were eating up the five tallies they had

DANVILLE, VA., May 10.—In a rather osely played game here to-day Danville cfeated Roancke by a score of 8 to 3. DANVILLE, VA., May 10.—In a rather loosely played game here to-day Danville defeated Roanoke by a score of 6 to 3.

The Tobacconists led off with one run in the second inning, due to Kelly, the veteran ball player of the Roanoke agregation. The three runs for Danville in the fifth inning was due to the batting of Watson, who lost the ball in deep center, and had plenty of time to circle the bases and bring in two others from the sacks. Diebold, pitcher of the visitors, while not allowing as many hits as the Danville pitche, was wild. Kelly, first baseman, and Wolf, short stop for the visitors, made errors at critical stages. Reggy, third base, and Bierman, short stop for the locals, played a star game. The score is:

FISH POND IN CITY.

Workmen Draining, Small Pool,

Find Trout Enough for Breakfast

Find Trout Enough for Breaktast City employes who were instructed to drain a small pond below the colored hospital while at work yesterday morning found fifty-six catifies and a grat quantity of porch in the little hole of water.

The fishes were turned over to the physicians at the almshouse, and many of them will be caten this mornins.

Just how they got into the small pond and how long they have been there is a question that is puzzling the city employes, who were at work draining the pound, and also how for a touch draining the pound, and also how for a looked upon the little power when the form and the point and the point and the point and the six and the water that can resone of the cainstreaught/were very large, and the perch were good frying size.

6 Much Gaiety at Bazaar,

The usual scene of galety was ever present at the Sacred Heart Bazaar last night, the young laddes who are trying to win the beautiful diamond ring for bringing in the messmoney to the fair, fairly outlid, themselves in sales last night. Miss Theresa Donahua and Miss Gella McEvoy are making a close race, and it is hard to say which popular young lady will be the control of the sales of wares. The sale pond is always busy, and it is rumored that the assisting young lades are greatly responsible for the large dispensation of wares. The last pond is well worth trying. Bites are always plentiful, and good prizes await the angler. The postoffice is also a good place to get one's mall.

Dancing and music again took up a good part of the evening, and many dancers were on the floor. A very pleasing programme was also rendered.

Negro Lad Under Train Wheels.

Thomas Price, a twelve-year-old negro, was run over by a Senboard Air Idne train at the Oak Street Crossing yesterday morning, and head to be seen to the would the body. As a pital last night.

Dr. Turman, of the ambulance was called immediately after the accident, and after doing what could be done at once took the little negro to the colored hospital, where both legs were ambulated.
